Unprecedented Coalition Supports Minimum Wage, Calls for State Funding

For immediate Release

Contact:

Bryan O'Malley, 518-813-9537

Jennifer Burner Barden, 646-676-4486

Unprecedented coalition supports minimum wage, calls for State funding

An unprecedented group of health, behavioral health, developmental disability providers, in addition to human services agencies throughout the state, today called on the Legislature to use recently identified additional revenues to help pay for the Governor's proposed minimum wage increase for the Medicaid and human service agencies that rely on state assistance to provide services critical to all New Yorkers. These groups, listed at the end of this release, support the wage increase, but stress the importance of investment in funding to support it. Last week, the Assembly and Senate agreed that there was an additional half a billion dollars in state revenue, which this group argues should be used to pay for this increase.

The groups argued that the Governor's minimum wage proposal was critical to being able to recruit and retain a high quality workforce. Funding to pay for the increase, as well as a plan to maintain that funding, is the responsibility of the State and must be supported to ensure the sector government relies on to meet a variety of human needs throughout the state, can continue to provide the jobs and services critical to success.

The health and human service industries are the driving force behind our economy. The day care centers and after-school programs let parents work, knowing that their children are safe. Hospitals serve as economic engines for our communities while protecting its health and providing critical services when people most need them. Home care, developmental disability, and behavioral health providers aid our parents, children and loved ones, allowing them to live fulfilling lives in the community. Since this workforce is almost completely funded by the State, it is the responsibility of the State to fund the increase, just as they have for direct State employees and SUNY workers.

"New Yorkers rely on the services we deliver. Whether for themselves, their children, their parents or their loved ones, New York's health care providers and human service providers are providing the services that make our State function. We are as critical to the operation of New York on a day-to-day basis as its roads and bridges. The Governor and Legislature must recognize that without investing in this human infrastructure, it too will crumble," said Bryan O'Malley, Executive Director of the Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Association of New York State.

Toni Lasicki, Executive Director of the Association for Community Living said, "The Association for Community Living supports workers making a living wage. However, any increase to the wage must include increases in state contracts that reflect the change so providers of behavioral health services can compensate workers and remain competitive in attracting and retaining a competent workforce to serve some of the most compromised New York citizens.”

Jennifer March, Executive Director of the Citizen’s Committee for Children of New York, said, “Increasing New York State’s minimum wage to $15 is a component of addressing poverty throughout the State. New York’s children and families are relying on the Governor and the Legislature to include a phased-in minimum wage that is fully funded for non-profits with state contracts and those reimbursed by Medicaid in the upcoming State Budget. Without the funding to support the increased minimum wage, these programs providing vital services to New Yorkers would likely need to curtail their services, lay-off staff, increase caseloads, and/or shut their doors.”

“People with disabilities rely on personal attendants every day to help us eat, bathe, go to work, and live our lives,” said Bruce Darling, CEO of the Center for Disability Rights. “Agencies that provide consumer directed personal attendants have had level or reduced reimbursements and increased overhead costs for years. Without an increase in funding to match the minimum wage increase, you’re not looking at more workers, you’re looking at fewer agencies. Fewer agencies means people with disabilities, especially in rural areas, will be forced into institutions, away from our families, in violation of our civil right to live in the community.”

“There are 870,000 workers in NYS in the broad human services sector who work directly under government-funded contracts or provide services reimbursed by Medicaid funding. Many work for nonprofits providing essential public services and are effectively indirect government workers. Nearly half of this workforce – 420,000 workers (predominantly women and people of color) – benefit from an increase in the minimum wage to $15 an hour,” said Ron Deutsch, Executive Director of the Fiscal Policy Institute. “To ensure continued quality service delivery, it is essential that government funding be increased so that these workers benefit from the minimum wage increase.”

“The human services sector is an extension of the government in providing essential government services to promote the well-being of all New Yorkers. We applaud the Governor for his support of a higher minimum wage in NY and urge the legislature to make a $15 minimum wage a reality. Even without a statewide policy change the Governor has the power to ensure the over 800,000 workers who deliver human services on the government’s behalf earn a living wage by increasing government payment rates to ensure higher wages for this workforce. Absent a statewide policy change, this would be a solid step forward in achieving higher wages for a large number of low-income workers. The Governor has taken great first steps to increase the minimum wage for State and SUNY workers. The same approach must be taken for human services workers across New York. We support the enactment of a $15 minimum wage policy and state investment in wage increases and spillover funding for human services workers,” said Allison Sesso of the Human Services Council of New York.

“With the enormous changes happening in mental health services in New York State, there is, more than ever, a great need for a sophisticated and professional workforce. Without state funding to support increases in the minimum wage for mental health staff, the ability to recruit and retain a quality workforce will be greatly hindered,” said Glenn Liebman, CEO of the Mental Health Association of New York State.

“We have all come together today to urge the Governor and state lawmakers to ensure that NYS nonprofits can properly serve those we support by allowing us to attract and retain a quality workforce,” said Harvey Rosenthal, Executive Director of the New York Association of Psychiatric Rehabilitation Services.

“In the children’s behavioral health field, the workforce is the most essential component of the consistent, positive work needed with individual children,” said Andrea Smyth, Executive Director of the NYS Coalition for Children’s Behavioral Health. “For children affected by trauma and unable to develop relationships, our workforce is the ones who make a child feel valued, supported and capable of developing resiliency. It is difficult to put value on the consistency of a supportive adult in a child’s life, but today we are willing to say that the minimum value should be $15 per hour,” said Smyth.

“HCP and its members agree that home care workers deserve to be paid more,” said Claudia J. Hammar, President of the New York State Association of Health Care Providers (HCP). “Home care workers are at the heart of delivering high quality and compassionate care to tens of thousands of elderly, chronically ill, and disabled New Yorkers across the State. But with an industry that is primarily funded by Medicaid, it comes down to simple math: if government reimbursements do not keep up with our costs, we cannot continue to provide these services. If the Governor and Legislature want home care to remain a viable option for New Yorkers in the future, they have a responsibility to ensure that the State pays its full share of the increase.”

“As organizations that have long advocated for increased funding to pay wages to individuals who provide direct supports to people with disabilities, we are very pleased to see the debate about an increased minimum wage come to the forefront here in NYS. It is hard to argue that individuals who provide direct supports to other human beings – especially individuals with challenging needs – are currently paid wages commensurate with their responsibilities (e.g. assistance with eating, toileting, and bathing; communication; administration of medications; support in jobs and in the community),” said Michael Seereiter, President/CEO of the New York State Rehabilitation Association. “However, without requisite funding increases to pay direct support workers wages competitive to other sectors, like fast food, and comply with an increased minimum wage, these non-profit organizations will be unable to pay any increased minimum wage or compete for qualified workers. Much more seriously, vulnerable individuals and their families that rely upon these services for supports in day-to-day living will be hurt as many organizations begin to fail, unable to compete and hire staff to provide these necessary supports.”

“There are significant gaps in services based on a shortage of needed home care workers that allow a senior in need of assistance to remain in their own homes. This is true for Medicaid and EISEP, the Office for the Aging’s in home support for older residents with income above Medicaid limits. An increase in the minimum wage, and a funding source for human services agencies that deliver services through a state funding stream, is critically important to prevent or delay institutionalization. Additionally, an increase in minimum wage will have a positive later effect on the worker’s quality of life in retirement, by the resulting increase in pay used to calculate their own Social Security benefit. The time to act is now.” Maria Alvarez, Executive Director, New York Statewide Senior Action Council.

The organizations were statewide groups as well as individual providers, including the Association for Community Living, Center for Disability Rights, Citizen’s Committee for Children of New York, Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Association of New York State, the Federation of Protestant Welfare Agencies, Fiscal Policy Institute, Human Services Council, Mental Health Association of New York State, New York Association of Psychiatric Rehabilitation Services, New York State Association of Health Care Providers, New York State Coalition for Children’s Behavioral Health, New York State Council for Community Behavioral Healthcare, New York State Rehabilitation Association, New York Statewide Senior Action Council, and the Women’s City Club of New York. All of these groups, and the programs they offer or represent, rely significantly or entirely on state Medicaid or human service funds to operate. The groups support a minimum wage of $15 per hour, but are very concerned that without additional funding from the state they will face unintended consequences, including interrupted service delivery, scaled up case loads, and in some cases closed their doors all together. Some of these groups had previously come together under the banner of #15andFunding.

Message from the Health and Hospitals Municipal Labor Subcommittee and Commission on the Public's Health System

We need you to support Fair Funding for

NYC Health + Hospitals

TELL Governor Cuomo to support fair distribution of Safety Net Funding.

Last year NYC Health + Hospitals (formerly known as Health and Hospitals Corp.-HHC) received only $96 million out of a possible $3.5 BILLION in funds that are supposed to go to care for costs of people on Medicaid and people who are uninsured.

NYC Health + Hospitals sees 1.2 million patients without receiving its fair share of funds. Changes have to be made by our Legislators on short-changing and exclusion to access vital dollars. This is not about Health + Hospitals. This is about the millions of New Yorkers who access and need our public hospitals and other true safety-net providers.

What is Must!.

State legislation to change the current definition of a safety net hospital.

State legislation to target DSH funding meant for care of indigent patients, especially those in high need and uninsured. Eliminate restriction of NYC Health + Hospitals being last to receive funds.

Tell your elected officials to

1. Support amending Vital Access Funds for the NYC Health + Hospitals
2. Support and Amend Legislation A.9007-A/S6407-A of 2016 to adequately fund NYC Health + Hospitals.

Let's stop the politics and games. We have in New York City, certain private hospitals, who don't deserve the current amount of state funds intended for true safety-net hospitals.

If you need more details, please feel free to email or call CPHS. Or check out one of reports at http://www.cphsnyc.org/cphs/reports/paying_new_york_state_hospitals/

Call Governor Cuomo TODAY! Urge Him to Direct NYSDOH to Pass All FLSA Funds to Fiscal Intermediaries

The long-awaited emergency funds promised by the State for compliance with the new Federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) rule that went into effect last October were sent out to the managed long term care (MLTC) plans just yesterday.

However, according to recent communications with New York State Department of Health (NYSDOH) officials, NYSDOH intends to allow the plans to decide whether, and how much of, these funds are passed down to each fiscal intermediary they are contracted with. This means that money set aside specifically to cover FLSA overtime costs - an amount already far less than what was initially promised - could potentially be used by plans for other, non-CDPA-related expenses.

This is not an acceptable way to sustain a program under threat that thousands of New Yorkers rely on!

We are urging you to call Governor Cuomo and tell him that he must direct the Department of Health to ensure that FLSA emergency funds are distributed in full to fiscal intermediaries, without interference or delays from managed care plans!

CALL GOVERNOR CUOMO TODAY (518) 474-8390!

Tell him:

I use Consumer Directed Personal Assistance (CDPA), a 100% Medicaid-funded program that allows me to hire and supervise my own personal assistants to help with daily living activities and skilled nursing services. Their wages are paid through a third party provider organization called a fiscal intermediary (FI).

Since the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) overtime rule went into effect in October, FIs have not received any additional funding from the State for overtime. As a result, many have had to take out loans, and have even had to reduce base pay or ask us to limit our workers' hours.

I am extremely concerned about the future of this program and my ability to stay in the community. Will you protect continuity of care and ensure funds to pay for overtime and travel are actually sent to fiscal intermediaries to help people with disabilities and seniors?

You can also send Governor Cuomo a message using our Action Center. Click the link below to email him!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR: FUND THE MINIMUM WAGE INCREASE!

As CDPAANYS continues to fight for the future of CDPA by demanding that Governor Cuomo and the Legislature pass a fully funded minimum wage increase in the budget, we are relying on you to help us carry our message.

One way you can do this is to write a letter to the editor in your local paper. This is an easy process and can be done by anyone. Letters should be short, generally about 250-300 words. As you write, be respectful and be positive! The paper will not print Letters that tear people down. Also, only use information you know to be true and do not exaggerate. Our case is convincing enough without exaggerations or half-truths. Don't use abbreviations. Say "fiscal intermediary," not "FI". Say "personal assistant" or "worker," not "PA."

Finally, and most importantly, make the letter your own. We have included some talking points to give you help as you think about your letter; but, the paper wants to hear why this is important to you. They do not want talking points.

Thank you for your help. Together, we can help make sure that CDPA has the necessary funding to be a strong and successful program for us, and for generations to come. And if your letter gets printed, let us know. We'll share it on our Facebook page and with the Legislature and Governor.

Points to consider and potential themes for your Letter to the Editor:

- We support the minimum wage increase, but we need the funding to pay for it.
- If the increase goes through without additional funding, the very existence of CDPA, and all community based services, is threatened.
- The fast food industry it is already required to increase wages. Retail is expected to follow. While they can raise the price of a burger or t-shirt to offset these wages, CDPA cannot and without additional funding and a pay raise, consumers will be unable to compete and the program – and those who use it – will suffer.
- Our workers deserve and need this increase. In 2006, workers in CDPA made, on average, one and a half times as much as someone in the fast food industry. If the minimum wage increase and associated funding do not come through, they will now make less.
- Fiscal Intermediaries spend about $0.88 – $0.92 per dollar on costs related to workers. This includes wages, taxes, worker's compensation and more. This makes it one of the most efficient programs in Medicaid; but, it means there is no room for paying for this increase without additional funds.
- Since 2011 and Medicaid reform, funding for CDPA has decreased dramatically. Fiscal Intermediaries now receive less money on average than they did in 2006.
- The low reimbursement means that many workers qualify for Medicaid, food stamps and other public assistance benefits. Governor Cuomo said that when fast food and retail do this, it costs the State $6,800 per year per person. That cost does not go away just because the State is the one paying low wages. We cannot use Medicaid to subsidize Medicaid.

- CDPA has saved the State more and more each year over the same services provided in traditional home care. Last year, it saved approximately $75 million in taxpayer dollars. That number will only increase as demand for the programs grows. However, if people cannot use the program because they are unable to hire and keep high quality staff, the entire program will collapse.
- While we may be healthy now, we need to think about the future and what options we want for ourselves and our parents, grandparents, children, friends and neighbors. If things continue the way they are, what services will be left for them in the future?
- TELL YOUR STORY! THIS IS ABOUT YOU, AS A CONSUMER, A WORKER OR A FI. YOU ARE WHAT MAKES THE LETTER COMPELLING!

TTY Relay Service: 711

ICAN includes 14 agencies and can meet clients at over 50 locations throughout New York state where they can meet with people in-person. Call to schedule an in-person meeting. They can also visit you in your home if you have difficulty traveling.

Key facts to keep in mind:

- ICAN does not accept walk-ins. You have to call ICAN to schedule an appointment.

- Some of the locations are permanently staffed, and some are just locations where staff can meet with clients so there is nobody from ICAN there most of the time.
- ICAN will arrange for a home visit for anyone who needs it, so lack of a proximate site should not be an obstacle.
