Consumers Searching

Consumers Wanted: For an Employment Information Bridge to work it requires traffic to flow in both directions. If you are in a Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program, you will eventually need to find a new Home Care Worker. And up to now you may have relied upon Friends, Family, an Agency or you may have chosen to put your own advertisement on the Internet (See the list of Internet resources on the PCA Employment Agency page of this newsletter). Therefore, to help you find the PCA Candidate of your choice, I urge you, to do everything you ordinarily do, to consider an Internet resource and to try* www.ConsumerDirectedServices.com.

Finally, if you try Consumer Directed Services, please spread the word. Tell your friends and associates about this FREE service.

Using CDPA While Travelling: Your Rights and Obligations

Thu, Apr 7, 2016 at 3:42 PM

One of the many benefits of using CDPA is that your personal assistants can accompany you when you go out – whether it be to social functions, a trip to the store, business trips, or vacation. This is consistent with the notion that CDPA is premised on the notion of giving consumers the flexibility to live independent in their community. Travel is a key part of that flexibility.

Personal assistants may accompany consumers on trips to perform approved tasks on the consumer's plan of care. However, it is important to note that while Medicaid will pay your workers wages, it will not pay for travel expenses incurred or extra work outside of the plan of care. If you anticipate additional needs while you are traveling, you may ask your plan to temporarily modify your plan of care, although there is no guarantee that they will. It is also important for you to know that Medicaid will not reimburse for any services performed outside the United States or U.S. territories.

Before travel takes place, consumers must inform their managed care plan when they will be traveling out of state or service region. While a managed care plan cannot deny travel or tell consumers not to leave the state, it is very important to note that travel must not exceed 30 days, or the case will be disenrolled and services will be terminated. In the event of special circumstances or emergencies, i.e. an emergency while travelling, consumers should contact their managed care plan directly and inform them of the situation. Plans may extend authorizations for emergencies, but it is their decision.

According to the CDPAANYS, in-state travel should be covered by GIS 08, which clarifies non-medical transportation:

https://www.health.ny.gov/health_care/medicaid/publications/docs/gis/08oltc007.pdf

GENERAL INFORMATION SYSTEM

12/8/24/08

DIVISION: Office of Long Term Care

GIS 08 OLTC/007

TO: Local District Commissioners, Medicaid Directors

FROM: Mark Kissinger, Deputy Commissioner Office of Long Term Care

SUBJECT: Non Medical Transportation in the Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program

EFFECTIVE DATE: Immediately

CONTACT PERSON: Leslie Galusha and Priscilla Ferry at (518) 474-5271

The purpose of this GIS is to clarify for local departments of social services the provision of non-medical transportation services in the Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program (CDPAP).

A consumer directed personal assistance program recipient's life activities may take the recipient outside the home for work, school, social activities, shopping or for other non-medical purposes. The personal assistant may accompany the recipient outside the home if there are tasks on the recipient's plan of care that the personal assistant will perform at that venue. In such circumstances, a personal assistant is not prohibited from driving the recipient when:

- the personal assistant and the recipient agree that they will be fully responsible for any potential personal liability, or associated expenses, that may result;
- the recipient's physician indicates on the physician's order that the recipient's health and safety and need for assistance with tasks on the recipient's plan of care will not be jeopardized were the personal assistant to drive the recipient. Additionally, the personal assistant is prohibited from driving the recipient when, in the opinion of the recipient's physician, the recipient has a serious, and potentially life threatening, medical condition that may require immediate intervention that cannot be accomplished if the personal assistant is driving; and
- the recipient has no informal supports, such as family members or friends, including another personal assistant, who are willing and available to transport the recipient either voluntarily or on a private-pay basis. The provision of non-medical transportation is not a discrete service; therefore, no additional hours of CDPAP service should be authorized solely for the provision of such transportation.

This policy applies only to non-medical transportation and is contingent upon the availability of federal funding participation. Transportation to Medicaid covered medical services is to be provided pursuant to 18 NYCRR 505.10.

TO: Local District Commissioners, Medicaid Directors

FROM: Mark Kissinger, Deputy Commissioner Office of Long Term Care

SUBJECT: Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program (CDPAP) Services Provided Out of State

EFFECTIVE DATE: Immediately

CONTACT PERSON: Local District Liaison, (518)474-5888

This GIS message is to clarify the Department's policy on the use of CDPAP services by consumers when traveling outside New York State.

It is the policy of the Department that the CDPAP consumer is not prohibited from traveling out of state for a temporary absence and having the CDPAP personal assistant accompany the consumer to provide assistance with the approved tasks listed on the consumer's CDPAP plan of care.

Travel out of state should be brief or short-term. Examples of travel out of state may include the following: a vacation, family events or attending a conference. The consumer must inform the local department of social services (LDSS) and the fiscal intermediary (FI) when out of state travel will occur to assure that the agencies are aware of the planned absence. This notification will serve to ensure that the consumer, the FI and the LDSS are able to meet their ongoing responsibilities in a timely manner.

In the event that the consumer is not self-directing, the LDSS must determine how the self-directing other may fulfill his or her responsibility to supervise and direct the personal assistant when travel out of state occurs and whether it is sufficient to assure, to the extent reasonably possible, a safe care plan. The specific types of contact, whether on-site or via telephone or other means that are appropriate, may vary depending upon the specific circumstances of each particular case. For clarification of appropriate types of contact, please refer to GIS 08

OLTC/005, Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program: Clarification of 06 OMM/LCM-1, "Questions and Answers Related to Administration of the CDPAP".

Districts are reminded that the hours of CDPAP service are not increased when travel out of state occurs and that any expense related to the cost of travel for the personal assistant is the responsibility of the consumer.

Please address any questions to the district's liaison at (518) 474-5888.

Final NYS Budget 2016-17 - Harsh Medicaid Cuts Avoided

04 Apr, 2016

In the final New York State Executive Budget effective for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 2016, most of the harshest cuts to Medicaid eligibility that Gov. Cuomo had proposed were not enacted. The Medicaid budget language is in the Health and Mental Hygiene (HMH) (S6407-C/A9007-C)- find it here. See full budget here.

Here is a brief summary of the outcomes of some of the proposals affecting Medicaid recipients. Please click on the links below to read the testimony by NYLAG, Empire Justice Center at the above links.

1. Budget Preserves Impoverishment Protections for Married Couples and Children with Chronic Illness:

- The final budget preserves the minimum Spousal Impoverishment Resource Allowance at the level of $74,820, rather than reducing it to $23,820 as proposed. This is the amount of resources on spouse may keep if s/he is not on Medicaid and he other spouse is in a Managed Long Term Care plan, waiver program, or a nursing home. The Governor's proposal would have meant that an elderly woman who had $50,000 in life savings could only have kept $23,820 if her husband needed to enroll in a Managed Long Term Care plan. With the final budget, she can keep her $50,000 on life savings.
 - Next year we urge the legislature next year to increase the spousal allowance to the maximum allowed by the federal Medicaid program of $119,220 - with the federal annual cost of living index. The $74,820 allowance used by

New York was the maximum federal allowance 20 years ago -- but was enacted without a cost of living index so has been frozen for 20 years.

- Spousal/Parental Refusal is Preserved - For at least the 27th year, the legislature defeated the proposal to eliminate "spousal" or "parental" refusal again. Because the Medicaid income and resource limits are so low - income limits well below the Federal Poverty Line, this protection is vital to prevent divorce or forced institutionalization of loved ones in nursing homes, when one spouse or a child with chronic illness need Medicaid for costly services.
- 2. “Prescriber Prevails” Preserved in Managed Care- Doctors with intimate knowledge of their patients’ diagnoses and other medications will still have the final say over what medications are necessary and appropriate for their patients, and will not be overridden by managed care plans or the State. The Governor's proposal would have eliminated "prescriber prevails" for all but anti-depressants and for atypical antipsychotics. This proposal was rejected.
- 3. No Changes in Who is Eligible for Managed Long Term Care- final budget rejects proposal to exclude from MLTC people who, without home care, would not otherwise need to be in a nursing home. Advocates were concerned that the local county and HRA Medicaid programs had downsized their Medicaid personal care staff so lacked the resources to assess and authorize personal care services
- 4. Compromise Reached in Provider Reimbursement Rates for Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (“QMB”) and Medicaid recipients who are members of Medicare Advantage Plans- Medicare beneficiaries who rely on Medicaid or "QMB" to pay the copayments charged by their Medicare Advantage Plans will now have 85% of the copayment paid for them. This is better than what the Governor proposed - which was that NONE of the copayment or coinsurance would be paid for them if the Medicaid rate was lower than the Medicare rate for the service, which is usually the case. This would have deterred doctors and other providers from being willing to treat them. Unfortunately, the budget does not change the cut enacted last year in 2015, which cuts the help provided to Medicaid and QMB recipients who have Original Medicare, rather than Medicare Advantage. They get no help at all with the 20% coinsurance they are charged for Medicare Part B services, if the Medicaid rate is lower than the Medicare rate for the service. While providers are banned from "balance billing" QMB beneficiaries for that coinsurance, the reality is that the beneficiaries are still hurt when their provider is not paid.

Here is an example to illustrate the proposal and the final budget provision.

HYPOTHETICAL FACTS: The Medicare rate for Mary's specialist visit is $200, of which her Medicare Advantage plan pays $150 and Mary is charged a copayment of $50. The Medicaid rate for the same service is $150.

- FINAL NYS BUDGET: Medicaid will pay the specialist 85% of the $50 copayment, which is $42.50. The doctor is prohibited by federal law from "balance billing" QMB beneficiaries for the balance of that copayment. Since provider is getting $192.50 of the $200 approved rate, provider will hopefully not be deterred from serving Mary or other QMBs/Medicaid recipients.
 - PROPOSED budget (rejected): Medicaid would not pay specialist ANY part of the $50 copayment since the Medicaid rate for the service is less than the Medicare rate. Medicaid would view the doctor as already paid in full. This would have deterred doctors and other providers from being willing to treat dual eligibles and people with QMB.
1. Managed Care Assistance Program (MCCAP) funding preserved - Funding for this important program that funds community-based organizations throughout New York State, including NYLAG, to assist Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries with Medicare Part D and access to subsidies for low-income Medicare beneficiaries was preserved. See this blog by NYLAG advocate Paula Arboleda describing this successful program.

Losses - No progress was made on restoring some previous cuts and restrictions –

1. Medicaid Physical, Occupational & Speech Therapy Visit Caps -In 2011, the state budget limited Occupational Therapy, Physical Therapy and Speech Therapy/Pathology to 20 visits per year. This is a flat limit on services, with no override allowed. The limits do not apply to people with developmental disabilities or traumatic brain injury, but apply to all other Medicaid recipients, including those who access these therapies through Managed Long Term Care and managed care plans. These limits continue to deprive Medicaid recipients of crucial rehabilitation services and should be removed.
2. Essential Plan still not open to all PRUCOL Immigrants- about 5,500 immigrants Permanently Residing Under Color of Law (PRUCOL), such as those with deferred action for childhood arrivals (DACA) status, are banned from the Essential Plan, leaving them uninsured if their income is above 138% of the Federal Poverty Line (FPL). Expanding the Essential Plan to cover these immigrants would give them access to affordable insurance if their incomes are up to 200% of the FPL. This expansion was rejected.

Still Studying - Minimum wage requirements enacted, as to how they will impact the Medicaid home care industry. While increases in minimum wage of this vital workforce are much needed, the big question is how will they be funded for Medicaid services. These changes come on the heels of the new overtime requirements that home care aides are entitled to overtime pay when they work over 40 hours per week, as mandated by federal changes that became effective in October 2015. While some funding allocation is being passed through the MLTC plans to the home care agencies and CDPAP fiscal intermediaries, the Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Association and other organizations say the funding is not nearly enough, forcing aides and consumers to suffer when hours are cut back to avoid overtime.

Proposed legislation aimed at comorbidity among Medicare beneficiaries

A "policy options document" developed by the U.S. Senate Finance Committee's Chronic Care Working Group could form the basis for new legislation with a significant impact on the long-term care industry.

Issued last December following a series of hearings and stakeholder meetings, the document suggests a series of options for the committee to consider with the goal of improving how Medicare treats beneficiaries with multiple, complex chronic illnesses. The Working Group says any policy under consideration should meet these key objectives:

- Increase care coordination among individual providers across care settings who are treating individuals living with chronic diseases;
- Streamline Medicare's current payment systems to incentivize the appropriate level of care; and
- Facilitate delivery of high-quality care, improve care transitions, produce stronger patient outcomes, increase program efficiency and contribute to an overall effort to reduce the growth in Medicare spending.

Should the committee decide to move forward with its recommendations and develop a final document, revised after submitted comments, that action is expected to wait until the new Congress convenes in January 2017 when lawmakers can return their focus to making improvements many consider necessary while also reducing overall healthcare expenditures.

Policy Options

Some of the policy options in the document include:

- Expanding the Independence at Home Model of Care (IAH) demonstration into a permanent, nationwide program.
- Expanding access to home hemodialysis therapy by including free-standing renal dialysis facilities in its qualified originating site definition.
- Requiring Medicare Advantage (MA) plans to offer the hospice benefit provided under traditional Medicare.
- Allowing end stage renal disease beneficiaries to choose a MA plan no matter when their condition began.
- Providing continued access to MA special needs plans (SNP) for vulnerable populations through a long-term extension or permanent authorization of SNPs as established under the Medicare Prescription Drug, Improvement, and Modernization Act of 2003.
- Improving care management services for individuals with multiple chronic conditions by establishing a new high-severity chronic care management code under the physician fee schedule.
- Developing policies to improve integration of care for individuals with a chronic disease combined with a behavioral health disorder.
- Providing MA plans the flexibility to establish a benefit structure that varies based on chronic conditions of individual enrollees.
- Expanding supplemental benefits for chronically ill MA enrollees.

- Using telehealth to increase convenience for MA enrollees and for individuals who have suffered a stroke.
- Providing Accountable Care Organizations (ACO) the ability to expand use of telehealth.
- Clarifying that ACOs participating in the Medicare Shared Savings Program (MSSP) may furnish a social or transportation service for which payment is not made under fee-for-service Medicare.
- Ensuring accurate payment for chronically ill individuals.
- Providing flexibility for beneficiaries to be part of an ACO.
- Developing quality measures for chronic conditions.
- Encouraging beneficiary use of chronic care management services.
- Establishing a one-time visit code post initial diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease, dementia or other serious or life-threatening illnesses.
- Eliminating barriers to care coordination under ACOs.
- Expanding access to prediabetes education.
- Expanding access to digital coaching to help beneficiaries learn more about their health conditions and in the self-management of their own health.
- Increasing transparency at the Center for Medicare & Medicaid Innovation.
- Conducting a study of medication synchronization.
- Conducting a study on obesity drugs.

AHCA/NCAL Comments

The American Health Care Association and the National Center for Assisted Living (AHCA/NCAL) responded to the committee's request for comments on policy that meets the key objectives AHCA/NCAL says it is essential to distinguish between very ill individuals who account for a high percentage of Medicare spending from the much larger population of those with one or two chronic diseases—and that any new policies designed for the chronically ill "must go beyond addressing not only a single condition but rather a web of interrelated challenges." Medicare spends more than $300 billion annually to care for such individuals, three times higher than the average beneficiary.

The association also expressed concern about "the number and pace of changes" being proposed.

"The Working Group should carefully consider unintended consequences of the proposed policy options," AHCA/NCAL says. "Such unexpected impacts could interact with existing demonstrations or payment systems that already are moving from traditional fee-for-service to other payment methods and negatively affect patient access."

Clifton Porter II, senior vice president of government relations at AHCA/NCAL, says to Long-Term Living a majority of individuals cared for by the organization's members have chronic conditions, and that number is increasing. "We urge a continued careful, thoughtful and deliberative process to ensure that final policy recommendations benefit not only those individuals with chronic medical conditions, but also the providers that support and care for them," Porter said.

Good News for Medicaid in N.Y. State Budget 2016-17

<http://www.wnyc.com/health/news/59/>

The final negotiations in the State Budget for 2016-17 are still going on, but some details for Medicaid were reached yesterday on March 30, 2016. So far we can report that the budget agreement –

- Keeps Spousal Refusal intact, along with “parental refusal” for children
- Keeps the "Spousal Impoverishment" Resource Allowance at $74,820 instead of reducing it to $23,820. This is the amount of resources a "well spouse" may keep when the other spouse is in a Managed Long Term Care plan, waiver program, or a nursing home. See analysis and examples here.
- Retains Managed Long Term Care eligibility for those currently eligible. The Governor had proposed excluding those who would not otherwise need nursing home care if they did not have home care. Advocates were concerned that these individuals would need to apply for personal care at their local county Medicaid offices, which have downsized their staff with the move to MLTC, and lack the staff to assess need and provide home care.
- TBI/ NHTDW Waivers - The Traumatic Brain Injury & Nursing Home Transition & Diversion Waivers were scheduled to essentially close on Jan. 1, 2017 with all members being transitioned to Managed Long Term Care or Managed Care plans, which would take over providing these services. The budget delays this transition one year until Jan. 1, 2018 to allow more time to ensure a safe and thoughtful transition and continuity of services for this fragile population.

Big thanks are due to NYS Assembly Health Committee Chair Richard Gottfried and Chair of the NYS Senate Health Committee Chair Kemp Hannon, for their leadership and commitment on these issues -- and a salute to Medicaid Matters NY and the NYS Bar Association Elder Law & Special Needs Section for their terrific advocacy for New Yorkers who rely on Medicaid!

- Unfortunately, the budget will allow cuts in reimbursement rates to pay physicians and other providers for Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (“QMB”) recipients who are members of Medicare Advantage Plans - These providers will not receive any payment of the coinsurance if the Medicaid rate is lower than the Medicare rate for the service, which is usually the case. While these providers are banned from "balance billing" for the coinsurance, this may deter doctors and other providers from being willing to treat them.

Stay tuned for further news on the state budget. Read about the original proposals by Gov. Cuomo and testimony by NYLAG, the Empire Justice Center, and more here.

Change in Consumer-Directed Personal Assistance Program begins April 1, 2016

Beginning April 1, 2016, a parent may serve as the paid personal assistant for his or her adult child (21 years of age or older) in the Consumer-Directed Personal Assistance Program, if certain conditions are met.

- The parent may not also be the child/consumer's "designated representative," and

- If the parent lives with the consumer/child, the parent must "... [reside] with the consumer because the amount of care the consumer requires makes such relative's presence necessary...." 18 NYCRR 505.28(b)(3)
- This change applies regardless of whether the CDPAP services are authorized by a mainstream managed care plan (for people without Medicare), a managed long term care plan, or by the local county Medicaid program (HRA in NYC) for people excluded or exempt from managed care.
- This change is the result of an amendment to state law, which now prohibits only "legally responsible" relatives from being the CDPAP aide. Spouses may still not be the CDPAP assistant for their spouse, nor parents for a minor child under 21, but any other adult relative may be the CDPAP aide - again, provided that the individual is also not the "designated representative" and does not live with the consumer/ adult child, unless the relative lives with the consumer because the amount of care the consumer requires makes such relative's presence necessary.

ALERT! Budget Agreement Includes HCA-Sought Infrastructure Pool, Scaled-Back Rate Adequacy Language, but Wage Hike Details Still Unknown

March 31, 2016

The state budget is due to be finalized by midnight tonight, and HCA has received copies of the budget bills reflecting agreements thus far in negotiations, including the bills pertaining to health care.

However, the consuming minimum wage question still remains unsettled, as it is handled outside the health budget language. All reports show an agreement is close on this core issue, with possible structural changes to the phase-in or regional variances of the wage hike. These broad facets are culled primarily from public statements by the Governor and legislative leaders, as reported in the press, and do not reflect a reading of actual budget language and all of its nuances, yet to be released.

The health care bills were, however, released last night after an impasse was evidently cleared regarding the local costs of Medicaid, specifically the Governor's proposal to shift costs to New York City, a proposal which was rejected from the agreement.

While the still-unknown wage question predominates, the health provisions reveal versions of HCA-developed priorities in other areas for home care which have been included in the final health care budget bills, including an appropriation of up to $200 million for health care capital funding, a minimum of $30 million being earmarked for community-based providers, including home care. HCA had actively worked with a coalition of community providers for inclusion of such funding.

A core part of HCA's advocacy message this year was the need for specific appropriations to support the capital needs of home care providers at a time when providers need to ramp up for new delivery models like the Delivery System Reform Incentive Payment Program, Value Based Payments, and others. These appropriations are a step in the right direction after years of underfunding for home and community-based capital needs, although we had requested and provided a compelling case for much more substantial funding. Without support from the Governor, the Legislature's ability to further supplement these funds for home care was limited.

HCA also authored home care-managed care rate adequacy language, which was substantially included in the Assembly's initial budget language several weeks ago but scaled back in this final agreement. The Assembly bill gave specific mention of the need for managed care and CHHA episodic rates to support compensation for worker recruitment and retention, compliance with state and federal wage requirements, compliance with the federal Conditions of Participation, quality assurance costs, and other costs. By contrast, the final budget language is far less descriptive of these cost needs. The final rate adequacy language was diminished by the push-back of the Governor's negotiators resulting, essentially, in a state provision mirroring federal standards. The resulting language merely adds that actuarially sound rates for MLTC "shall comply with all applicable laws and regulations, state and federal, including regulations as to the actuarial soundness for Medicaid managed care."

In other items, the Legislature successfully rejected the Governor's proposal to restrict MLTC eligibility to a nursing-facility-level-of-care, as well as the Governor's proposed carve-out of transportation services from MLTC. HCA advocated rejection of both.

Also rejected in the final bill was the Governor's proposed elimination of spousal refusal. The final bill delays, until January 1, 2018, the transition of the Traumatic Brain Injury and Nursing Home Transition and Diversion waiver programs into managed care.

Of course, the wage issue remains a big unsettled question and we await those details soon. Also unknown at this point is the status of the Governor's paid family leave proposal. Once we learn more, we will immediately follow up with an alert notifying you of the outcome in these critical areas, especially the wage issue which has been the subject of massive state advocacy energy from HCA and our coalition partners. Please stay tuned.

National at-home primary care initiative saves millions

March 20, 2016

By Tracey Walker

An Affordable Care Act payment model is showing that chronically ill patients can be better taken care of in their own homes while bringing down the long-term cost of care.

This Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services(CMS) initiative, the Independence at Home Demonstration, was created in 2012 as a new delivery model linked to a Medicare shared savings payment incentive program connected to quality measures. The model uses home-based care teams targeted to the most complex, highest-cost and highest-risk patients.

The first year of implementation yielded successful results—saving $25 million, while improving care, according to CMS.

Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) Medical Center has taken a lead role in the creation and design of the Independence at Home (IAH) initiative to test the advantages of home-based medical care, also known as house calls, for elderly patients too ill or disabled to visit their physicians.

During the Advanced Payment Models in Healthcare Conference 2016, held in Orlando, Florida, March 17 and 18, Peter A. Boling, MD, professor and chair of geriatric medicine at VCU Medical Center, shared VCU's case study during his presentation, "Independence at Home—Insights from Virginia on a Shared Savings Model in Home Based Primary Care."

Boling, MD explored some of the key insights from the design, implementation, and lessons learned for moving forward with implementation the IAH program on a larger scale.

How the model works

The IAH program's medical team provides home-based medical care and personalized care coordination to Medicare beneficiaries that have decreased mobility and high illness burden.

House calls provide the opportunity for providers to spend more quality time with patients, gain a much better understanding of the care environment and the patient's goals, then match the care plan to actual needs.

“The demonstration has shown great success to date,” Boling told Managed Healthcare Executive. “It is well targeted and has identified a pool of high risk of high-cost patients, and has a unique delivery model.”

In its first year, IAH has shown more savings than other demonstrations, along with high quality of care, according to Boling.

“Patients and families love house calls as an alternative to usual care, the teams understand patients' and families' needs and capabilities better than do providers who are office-based or hospital-based and the team can make more timely response to changes in condition,” he said. “The payment model supports home-based primary care teams and allows providers the time they need to manage the care of their patients instead of concentrating exclusively on maximizing the number of billed visits, as is the norm in fee-for-service care.

Lessons learned

VCU is one of 19 sites nationwide to participate in the initiative. The most successful sites created systems to track key data such as enrollment, utilization, and quality metrics.

Boling has recognized the value of this national learning collaborative to help teams improve and standardize processes, as well as having timely utilization data trends, which are generated internally by sharing information across sites.

“We have also met unexpected delays in receipt of incentive payments, which has been difficult come budget time, as our programs incurred extra costs to participate in the demonstration,” he said.

However, he said, “There is always room for improvement. We learned a lot about risk adjustment for this very sick patient group. We have experienced problems with slow growth in markets with high-managed care penetration. Surprisingly only a few managed care organization have embraced this model so far, perhaps finding it difficult to conceptualize and integrate with their systems which are built on a facility-based, fee-for-service care model.”

Boling offers these lessons learned:

- Timely access to utilization data and strategic use is critical to manage care more effectively.
- There is a high value in sharing lessons through a learning collaborative.

- It's important to develop an accurate risk-adjustment method that will allow timely payments of shared savings incentives.
- It is critical to ensure a cultural shift occurs from a team concentrating on fee-for-service income to one focused on patient outcomes; since everyone contributes substantially to success, teams are more collegial than hierarchical.

Key factors critical to success

“The key to home-based primary care [HBPC] is the team,” Boling said. “The providers need to enjoy making home visits, be dedicated to holistic comprehensive continuous care; have a broad range of clinical capabilities; communicate effectively with patients, families and other professionals; work well with the core HBPC team; and be able to use systems of care approaches effectively.”

The successes come from small local teams, who know local care systems and who can form close, trusting relationships with patients and families, he said.

Along with home visit providers, having a strong office support team is key to managing dispatch and routing, triaging clinical calls coming in during the day, and managing new referrals, Boling said.

“Social work support is also critical; the social circumstances surrounding these patients are often very complex and the social support systems are critical to staying at home,” he said. “Advanced skills in the community resource domain are vital to success.”

Like other clinical care models, there are myriad operational details that must be addressed, as well, according to Boling.

“Having a data local acquisition and management process are a critical component to success and this needs to be baked into the team model,” he said.

Reimbursement models best suited for IAH integration

The IAH clinical model is ideally suited to being a component of an accountable care organization (ACO) or MCO strategy, Boling said.

“In working with ACOs and MCOs the rules of engagement must be established from the start,” he said. “Which patients will be referred and managed, and how will the IAH team be compensated? There are a number of options, which should not rely too heavily on fee-for-service payments, but likely include a substantial monthly PMPM.”

Shared savings is another appealing option, he said. “This requires advanced actuarial processes to be fair. The patients have costs skewed far to the right of the distribution, and compensation will never be sufficient if based on models such as unadjusted HCC scores and related concepts such as the Medical Loss Ratio or the Medical Expenditure Ratio.”

IAH experience suggests that the enrolled population meeting IAH criteria has average annual costs of $50,000 to $60,000 and average Medicare savings in the range of $12,000 per year—about $1,000 per month—are attainable under IAH, said Boling.

“This advanced health home model works best when managed as a carve-out, to take full advantage of the income under shared savings,” he said. “The HBPC team needs financial support, likely in the range of $4,000 per patient-year in present circumstances, in addition to credit for fee-for-service billings.”

Boling said that he believes that IAH is poised to become a permanent part of the Medicare program, and should be supported.

New Statute Allows Parents of Adult Consumers to be PA's Effective April 1, 2016

March 17 at 12:32pm

CDPAANYS has received a number of inquiries regarding a statute set to take effect on April 1, 2016 that would allow non-legally liable parents to work as paid personal assistants in CDPA for their children. As of March 17, 2016, the Department of Health has not yet released guidance on how providers and plans should work with consumers and their families on the new statute. CDPAANYS will continue to seek clarification from the Department and will add a guide on the new law on our website as soon as it is received.

CDPAANYS is acutely aware of the time sensitive necessity for information on this rule and has been communicating with the Department of Health to ascertain guidance. We have also been working with the bill's sponsors in this effort. However, until further guidance from the Department is made available, we unfortunately have no information about information that is not otherwise incorporated in the legislation and, due to the Department's unwillingness to discuss implementation at all, are unable to even speculate on what the final rules will look like. We will remain in communication with the Department on this issue and make all information available as soon as we have it.

DOH Posts Guidance on FLSA Funding

March 9, 2016

Meeting with State Medicaid Director planned to further revise, improve provisions

The state Department of Health (DOH) has posted its long-expected guidance on funding for home care costs related to worker overtime and other expenses under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) rule changes. Those rule changes, as you know, took effect in October.

The guidance and related attestations can be viewed here.

http://www.health.ny.gov/health_care/medicaid/redesign/fair_labor_standards_act.htm

HCA received the posting late yesterday, but immediately took follow-up steps with the Department and State Medicaid Director so that we could provide the membership with the most up-to-date information today, and to further advocate our concerns.

The now-posted guidance includes several significant improvements pressed by HCA over the initial DOH drafts; but several lingering concerns and inconsistencies remain.

Our comments on the prior draft were shared with the membership in an alert last week, posted here.

<http://archive.constantcontact.com/fs174/1103899746204/archive/1123958722998.html>

The final posting reflects several of those comments, including: a clear intention that all of the funding to MLTCs and providers will be distributed and used for provider/worker costs; assurances that funds may be used to cover the full array of provider expenses associated with FLSA; and requirements that funds be provided to agencies within 30 days.

Continuing Issues, Concerns

While HCA acknowledges these improvements, serious issues and concerns remain with the posted guidance, which was not provided ahead of time for additional vetting by the association community prior to posting. These outstanding issues include: the lack of a clear and efficient distribution methodology from MLTCs to providers; DOH's intention that MLTCs and providers negotiate distribution; DOH's assertion of no funding commitment beyond March 31; inconsistencies between language in the attestation and in the guidance on the use of FLSA dollars; and inconsistency in permissible FLSA funding uses for MLTCs-to-LHCSAs (flexible) versus CHHAs-to-LHCSAs (narrow). Many of these issues were raised in our initial comments, and will require further remedy with the Department.

HCA Advocacy, Next Steps

The guidance follows extensive advocacy by HCA with the Governor's office, the State Medicaid Director and the Division of Long Term Care for full and adequate FLSA funding to agencies and managed care plans. HCA's advocacy was informed by HCA provider and MLTC member input.

Among our core concerns and requests was the need for a clear, efficient and fully funded distribution methodology from the state to managed care plans, and from managed care plans to agencies. This includes the need for specific assurance that the funds be allowed to cover all agency related costs resulting from FLSA, such as worker overtime compensation, travel, new tracking and reporting requirements, recruitment/training, and other FLSA-triggered expenses.

HCA had also requested that DOH streamline its provider/managed care plan attestation requirements to mitigate burden and unnecessary complexity. We called for revisions to the attestations reflecting the use of FLSA funds to meet the full array of FLSA costs.

Prior to the posting of the guidance, HCA contacted State Medicaid Director Jason Helgerson and the Governor's office further emphasizing the serious and continuing concerns over the draft and the status of urgently needed revisions. Those conversations implied opportunity for further discussion of these issues even as the Department was readying the guidance for posting.

Mr. Helgerson has nevertheless assured HCA of further consideration for our concerns. HCA is scheduling an immediate meeting with Mr. Helgerson on the outstanding issues with the guidance. HCA will keep the membership closely apprised of the status and outcome of these discussions and any other material developments with FLSA funding, guidance and implementation.

Independent Consumer Advocacy Network (ICAN)

ICAN helps people in New York's managed care plans who get long-term care services. Help is free, confidential, and independent. Call now to speak to a counselor.

Call (844) 614-8800

TTY Relay Service: 711

ICAN includes 14 agencies and can meet clients at over 50 locations throughout New York state where they can meet with people in-person. Call to schedule an in-person meeting. They can also visit you in your home if you have difficulty traveling.

Key facts to keep in mind:

- ICAN does not accept walk-ins. You have to call ICAN to schedule an appointment.
- Some of the locations are permanently staffed, and some are just locations where staff can meet with clients so there is nobody from ICAN there most of the time.

- ICAN will arrange for a home visit for anyone who needs it, so lack of a proximate site should not be an obstacle.
