

June 14, 2013

To assist Consumers with the problem of finding new Personal Care Assistants, Consumer Directed Services created a FREE Employment Information Bridge between Consumers and PCA Candidates.

- Consumers / Advocates

- To receive a copy of the weekly Newsletter, a Consumer or Advocate need only send me an email to elitcher@consumerdirectedservices.com and include your name and the text Newsletter Request.
- To search for a New Personal Assistant go to the Consumer Directed Services website and complete the form at the following link Consumer / Advocate - Search for a PCA Candidate. When your information is received it will be distributed to all of the PCA Candidates enrolled in the database and a variety of other Employment Resources.

- Personal Care Assistant \(PCA\) Candidates

To include your information in the Newsletter and Database, go to the Consumer Directed Services website and complete the form at the following link: Look for a PCA Job \(FREE\) - New York City Metro. As of the above date, 605 Personal Assistant Candidates have already been enrolled.

To insure that this Newsletter will be available to as many Consumers / Advocates as possible, previously distributed Newsletters (from January 12, 2011 to present) have been archived on the Consumer Directed Services home page. Finally, if you have any questions, comments, or recommendations about this service, or should you wish to remove your address from this list, please contact send an email to elitcher@consumerdirectedservices.com.

Best Regards, Ed Litcher

Notes

Consumers Wanted: For an Employment Information Bridge to work it requires traffic to flow in both directions. If you are in a Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program, you will eventually need to find a new Home Care Worker. And up to now you may have relied upon Friends, Family, an Agency or you may have chosen to put your own advertisement on the Internet (See the list of Internet resources on the PCA Employment Agency page of this newsletter). Therefore, to help you find the PCA Candidate of your choice, I urge you, to do everything you ordinarily do, to consider an Internet resource and to try www.ConsumerDirectedServices.com. Finally, if you try Consumer Directed Services, please spread the word. Tell your friends and associates about this FREE service.

Consumers Searching
Should you require additional information

Comments: I am seeking a p/t day assignment to compliment my current job which is full time, every other week. I have been a PA for 4 years, and can provide an excellent reference. I am responsible, reliable and take great pride in the care of my clients. I have extensive experience with Dementia Patients, NOT Alzheimer Patients. I am trained in dietary needs for diabetics, hoyer lift and wound care (via VNS), Bed bathing, and assisted bathing/toileting, and medication dispensing. I accompany clients to appointments, can accurately relay information to the family if needed. I provide companionship and activities ,if the client likes to participate, in reading, cards, movies, exercise, walks etc. I can be flexible if it does not interfere with my Full time assignment, as i am dedicated to that client, as I would be to you. Seeking a long term assignment, in Brooklyn with access to public transportation. If you are a family member seeking applicants, my present employer is agreeable to speaking with you for character references. Female Clients only please. Thank you and have a wonderful day.

Cash & Counseling: This national program introduced or expanded participant-directed personal assistance services in Medicaid By: De Milto L Published: 6/11/2013

“This approach gives people with disabilities more freedom and responsibility in the same way that all of us want to be in charge of our lives and our choices. It lets the individuals themselves decide how to best use the Medicaid dollars they are already entitled to.”—Tommy G. Thompson, HHS Secretary during the Cash & Counseling demonstration phase

Dates of Program: October 1996 to March 2009

Field of Work: Fostering the development of participant-directed home and community-based services for people with chronic disabilities

Problem Synopsis: Frail older adults and other people with disabilities who receive Medicaid faced many challenges in getting the personal assistance services—help at home with things like bathing, dressing, grooming, preparing meals, and housekeeping—they needed. At the same time, increased spending for long-term care led to the need for more cost-effective personal assistance services.

Synopsis of the Work: Cash and counseling, now called participant direction, is an approach to long-term care personal assistance services in which the government gives people cash allowances to pay for the services and goods they feel would best meet their personal care needs and counseling about managing their services.

The Cash & Counseling national program introduced or expanded participant-directed personal assistance services for frail older adults with disabilities and other people with disabilities in the Medicaid programs of 15 states. The program was a joint venture between the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Cash & Counseling had a demonstration phase and a replication phase. During the demonstration phase, Arkansas, Florida, and New Jersey developed and implemented programs comparing the cash and counseling model with the traditional agency-directed model for delivering personal-assistance services. Participants were randomly assigned to the treatment group (cash and counseling) or the control group (agency-based personal-assistance services). Mathematica Policy Research, Inc., in Princeton, N.J., conducted a rigorous, independent evaluation of the demonstration program. During the replication phase, 12 states implemented the model developed during the demonstration phase. As the main users of personal assistance services, older adults were a key focus. The RWJF Board of Trustees authorized the program for $18 million.

Key Results: The 15 states enrolled about 13,500 Medicaid beneficiaries with disabilities in cash and counseling programs. All of the states have continued their participant-directed programs.

The evaluation of the demonstration phase found:

- Cash & Counseling significantly reduced the unmet needs of Medicaid consumers who require personal assistance services.
- Cash & Counseling participants experienced positive health outcomes.
- Cash & Counseling improved quality of life for participants and their caregivers.
- Medicaid personal care costs were somewhat higher under Cash & Counseling, mainly because enrollees received more of the care they were authorized to receive. These increased costs were partially offset by other cost savings in institutional and other long-term care.
- Cash & Counseling need not cost more than traditional Medicaid personal care programs if states carefully design and monitor their programs.
- The Cash & Counseling national program created champions in the federal government for participant-directed services and contributed to the spread of these services through changes in policy, law, and regulation. For example, changes to policies of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services and the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 made it easier for states to offer participant-directed programs.
