June 26, 2015

On September 16th the New York State Department of State accepted the Certificate of Incorporation submitted by Consumer Directed Services, Inc. under section 404 of the Not-for-Profit Law. A certificate that included the following statement:

To insure that the corporation remains focused on the empowerment of the people being served, as the service population grows, the corporation will expand the Board of Director Membership to insure that a majority of its seats are held by people with disabilities.

To assist Consumers with the problem of finding new Personal Care Assistants, Consumer Directed Services, Inc. created a FREE Employment Information Bridge between Consumers and Personal Care Assistant (PCA) Candidates.

Consumers / Advocates

To search for a PCA Candidate complete the form at the following link Consumer / Advocate - Search for a PCA Candidate. When your information is received it will be enrolled in the email database, and posted on the website for a month, distributed to all of the members of the Consumer Directed Services database (Consumers, PCA Candidates, and a variety of other Employment Resources), and published in the Consumer Directed Services Newsletter for a month.

To just add your information to the Consumer Directed Services database, a Consumer or Advocate need only send me an email to elitcher@consumerdirectedservices.com and include your name and the text Newsletter Request. When your information is received it will be enrolled in the email database and you will begin receiving future issues of the Consumer Directed Services Newsletter and other emails related to the program's goal.

Consumers Searching

Consumers Wanted: For an Employment Information Bridge to work it requires traffic to flow in both directions. If you are in a Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program, you will eventually need to find a new Home Care Worker. And up to now you may have relied upon Friends, Family, an Agency or you may have chosen to put your own advertisement on the Internet (See the list of Internet resources on the PCA Employment Agency page of this newsletter). Therefore, to help you find the PCA Candidate of your choice, I urge you, to do everything you ordinarily do, to consider an Internet resource and to try www.ConsumerDirectedServices.com. Finally, if you try Consumer Directed Services, please spread the word. Tell your friends and associates about this FREE service.

Comments:

Please do not apply for this job if you are looking for something easy.

Apply only if you are the best and you are willing to accept a challenge. The work is hard but you will learn more about home care from this Consumer than you will ever learn from any class room program.

Ms. Stern is an extremely intelligent – ventilator dependent quadriplegic – who has been disabled and living independently many years. Ms. Stern is searching for a PCA to work - 12 hours per day - 4 or 5 days per week during the day or night shift. The final schedule will be determined as the Consumer and PCA develop a positive long term working relationship.

The Consumer needs a PCA who respects the commitments they make, a PCA who truly understands the importance of their work (to the Consumer's life and her ability to live independently), a PCA who takes pride in a job well done and a PCA who will not shy away from a complex (and personally rewarding) employment opportunity.

PCA Candidates

Consumer Directed Services is not an Agency and makes no representation (positive or negative) regarding the appropriateness of any PCA Candidate, or the terms and conditions of any employment relationship. All employment and payment decisions are the exclusive responsibility of the Consumer.

Dear Personal Care Assistant Candidate,

I would like to thank you for your participation in Consumer Directed Services. If you submitted your more than one year ago, please complete and submit a new Personal Assistant Enrollment Form. When the updated information is received, your new profile will be added to the next newsletter. Again thank you for your participation.

Independence at home program national demonstration saves more than $25 million

Penn Medicine's house calls program improved care and cost savings

House calls, a long-running option dating back to the early days of medicine, can be used in a new way to improve geriatric care and lower costs, says a report issued last week from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS).

Using first year results from Penn Medicine's Truman G. Schnabel In-Home Primary Care Program and its partners in the Mid Atlantic Consortium, Medstar Washington Hospital Center and Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) along with the 16 other IAH practices nationwide, CMS announced last week more than $25 million was saved during the first year of the national Independence at Home Medicare (IAH) demonstration, averaging $3,070 per participating beneficiary while improving care and achieving high satisfaction levels for the patients. During the first year, 8,400 Medicare beneficiaries participated in the national demonstration.

The national Independence at Home Medicare (IAH) demonstration delivers home-based medical care through house calls and personalized care to Medicare beneficiaries who face limited mobility and are burdened with advanced chronic illness. Nurse practitioners and physicians work with community agencies to provide primary care and supportive services for these patients who may otherwise not be able to travel to critical medical appointments, risking deteriorating health, threatening their ability to remain in their homes.

'IAH is a clinical model that focuses the resources of an integrated provider team on the five percent of Medicare beneficiaries that drive nearly 50 percent of Medicare spending,' said Bruce Kinosian, M.D., an associate professor in the division of geriatric medicine and senior fellow at the Leonard Davis Institute of Health Economics. 'With our partnership with the Philadelphia Corporation on Aging, we have a truly integrated, effective and efficient care program providing complex medical care and the social supports that frail elders need to remain in the community, while preserving patient choice.'

While improving care and achieving high patient satisfaction, these programs reduced overall health care costs; in some cases by 20 to 30 percent. Penn Medicine, the only IAH program in the Philadelphia region, worked with its partners in the Mid-Atlantic collaborative and the Philadelphia Corporation on Aging. 'We've known for years that an integrated provider team working with patients provides effective care for medically complex, frail elders,' said Mary Ann Forciea, M.D., medical director of the in-home primary care program. 'The IAH demonstration's financing model now pays providers to deliver that type of care.'

The Penn Medicine house call team, supported for 20 years by the division of geriatric medicine, served alongside Medstar and VCU in a central role in creating and designing the demonstration to create the new option for patients. Data from the Penn team helped encourage lawmakers to include the three-year program in the Affordable Care Act.

During the first year as an Independence at Home practice, Medicare beneficiaries in the Truman G Schnabel In-Home Primary Care Program on average, had:

- Fewer hospital readmissions within 30 days
- Follow-up contact from their provider within 48 hours of a hospital admission, discharge, or emergency department visit
- Their medications reviewed by their provider within 48 hours of discharge from a hospital or emergency room
- Their preferences documented by their provider
- Decreased use of hospital and emergency department services for conditions such as diabetes, congestive heart failure and COPD

'It's gratifying that our inter-professional team of geriatricians, nurse practitioners, social workers, and nurses has been so effective in serving frail elders over time, and across medical settings, to allow them to remain in the community,' said Jean Yudin, CRNP, nurse practitioner and program director of the Schnabel in-home primary care program.
