On September 16th the New York State Department of State accepted the Certificate of Incorporation submitted by Consumer Directed Services, Inc. under section 404 of the Not-for-Profit Law. A certificate that included the following statement:

To insure that the corporation remains focused on the empowerment of the people being served, as the service population grows, the corporation will expand the Board of Director Membership to insure that a majority of its seats are held by people with disabilities.

To assist Consumers with the problem of finding new Personal Care Assistants, Consumer Directed Services, Inc. created a FREE Employment Information Bridge between Consumers and Personal Care Assistant (PCA) Candidates.

Consumers / Advocates

To search for a PCA Candidate complete the form at the following link Consumer / Advocate - Search for a PCA Candidate. When your information is received it will be enrolled in the email database, and posted on the website for a month, distributed to all of the members of the Consumer Directed Services database (Consumers, PCA Candidates, and a variety of other Employment Resources), and published in the Consumer Directed Services Newsletter for a month.

To just add your information to the Consumer Directed Services database, a Consumer or Advocate need only send me an email to elitcher@consumerdirectedservices.com and include your name and the text Newsletter Request. When your information is received it will be enrolled in the email database and you will begin receiving future issues of the Consumer Directed Services Newsletter and other emails related to the program's goal.

Personal Care Assistant (PCA) Candidates

To include your information in the Newsletter and email database, complete the form at the following link: Look for a PCA Job \(FREE\) - New York City Metro. When your information is received, your information will be published in the Newsletter for a month, and you will begin receiving future issues of the Consumer Directed Services Newsletter and other emails related to the program's goal.

Also, to access our list of Currently Available Jobs, please use the following link: JOBS

Previously distributed Newsletters (from January 12, 2011 to present) have been archived on the Consumer Directed Services home page. Finally, if you have any questions, comments, or recommendations about this service, or should you wish to remove your address from this list, please contact send an email to elitcher@consumerdirectedservices.com.

Best Regards, Ed Litcher

Consumers Searching

Consumers Wanted: For an Employment Information Bridge to work it requires traffic to flow in both directions. If you are in a Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program, you will eventually need to find a new Home Care Worker. And up to now you may have relied upon Friends, Family, an Agency or you may have chosen to put your own advertisement on the Internet (See the list of Internet resources on the PCA Employment Agency page of this newsletter). Therefore, to help you find the PCA Candidate of your choice, I urge you, to do everything you ordinarily do, to consider an Internet resource and to try www.ConsumerDirectedServices.com. Finally, if you try Consumer Directed Services, please spread the word. Tell your friends and associates about this FREE service.

Comments:

Apply only if you are willing to accept a challenge.

The work is hard but you will learn more about home care than you will ever learn from any class room program. I am a ventilator dependent quadriplegic – who has been disabled and living independently many years. I am searching for a reliable PCA to work - 12 hours per day - 4 or 5 days per week during the day or night shift. I need a PCA who respects the commitments they make, a PCA who truly understands the importance of their work (to my life and my ability to live independently), a PCA who takes pride in a job well done and a PCA who will not shy away from a complex employment opportunity.

It's Time for Doctors' House Calls to Make a Comeback

The New York Times - The Opinion Pages
October 19, 2015, on page A22 of the New York edition

To the Editor:

As a geriatrician who makes house calls to frail adults, I agree with Dr. Sandeep Jauhar that providing home-based medical care results in better quality care (“Bring Back House Calls,” Op-Ed, Oct. 15). Seeing patients with multiple chronic conditions and functional impairments on their own turf helps physicians understand and integrate critical social factors into care.

It also brings out the best in doctors and nurse practitioners; providing care in the home forces us to communicate effectively with and educate our patients, perform better physical exams, think carefully about care plans (including end-of-life care), use medical technology discerningly, and engage in true shared decision-making with patients.

Further, home-based medical care saves lots of money for Medicare’s most expensive patients. Home-based medical care needs to expand and be integrated better into mainstream medicine.

BRUCE LEFF
Baltimore

The writer is a professor at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine.

To the Editor:

I applaud Dr. Sandeep Jauhar’s article. I have devoted my medical career to house calls, having made more than 31,000 over the last two decades.

House calls dramatically affect the quality of life of homebound patients and their caregivers while dramatically reducing health care costs. Two studies in the October 2014 issue of the Journal of the American Geriatrics Society demonstrated this.

One documented the 13.4 percent cost savings in the V.A. home-based primary care program. It reduced hospital readmission by 21 percent. It also had an astounding 89 percent reduction in nursing home days.

The second article described the Medstar House Call program in Washington and found a 17 percent cost savings equaling more than $4,000 a patient per year.

There is also a continuing Medicare house call demonstration in its fourth year called Independence at Home. The first year's data was released by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services in June and found more than $25 million in savings or $3,070 a patient.

Our aging society desperately needs this wonderful patient- and caregiver-centered care that also dramatically reduces medical costs.

THOMAS CORNWELL

President, American Academy of Home Care Medicine
Schaumburg, Ill.

Urgent Call To Protect Overtime and CDPA

On Tuesday, the Supreme Court of the United States refused to further delay implementation of the FLSA overtime rule, meaning it will go into effect October 13.

While we continue to appreciate the $20 million that Governor Cuomo set aside to pay for this as a part of this year's budget, so far, his Department of Health has had no meetings with CDPAANYS or other advocates to discuss methods of spending the funds, and we have heard no plan about how they plan to get these funds into the community to ensure continuity of care.

Because of this, CDPAANYS urges all consumers to begin making plans about how they will bring workers to 40 hours per week if it becomes necessary. This includes leaning on support systems and backups, as well as beginning the process of hiring additional workers.

Please, to protect the continuity of care for everyone using CDPA, it is critical that demand the Governor tell the Department of Health to work with us and ensure that a plan is in place before it is too late. Take a moment and send an email to the Governor demanding action. Then, send it to everyone you know, and ask them to send it. This kind of indifference would not be happening if nursing homes were going to face this dilemma. It is unacceptable for it to happen in CDPA.

Disabled advocates, home care providers worry about new OT regs

By Casey Seiler, Capitol bureau chief on October 14, 2015 at 4:06 PM

Members of the disabled community gathered at the Capitol on Wednesday to press the state Department of Health to release funds allocated to cover a federally mandated increase in the overtime costs of home health care aids.

In changes made according to the federal Fair Labor Standards Act, the workers' overtime pay rate was changed from time and a half minimum wage to time and a half their base hourly rate — a formula that could result in an hourly increase of around $2 or $3 depending on local wage requirements. Initially set to go into effect at the beginning of the year, it was delayed by legal wrangling until this week — Tuesday, to be precise.

Jensen Caraballo of the Center for Disability Rights Inc. in Rochester. (Cindy Schultz, Times Union)

The current state budget includes $20 million in state and federal funds to cover the change for workers who use the state's Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program, which allows the disabled to hire and schedule their own care.

Many who spoke at Tuesday's press conference expressed the concern that the state's inaction would force them into the difficult choice of pruning back their aids' hours or attempting the difficult task of hiring another worker to cover hours that would otherwise be covered by OT.

"Without my attendants, I'll end up back in the nursing home," said Jensen Caraballo of Rochester, whose spinal muscular atrophy requires him to use a wheelchair.

The change could mean hundreds of millions in annual cost increases for the roughly 350 member firms in the state Association of Health Care Providers, who were required to begin paying the new wage on Tuesday.

The trade organization on Wednesday sent a letter to Gov. Andrew Cuomo asking for the creation of a short-term funding pool to reimburse agencies for the increase. Looking down the road, the letter repeated warnings issued in recent weeks that proposed increases to the minimum wage would "jeopardize the entire home care industry unless increased funding is put into the system."

DOH spokesman Jeffrey Hammond said the department is "calculating the state's responsibilities under federal law so that payments can be made."

The department has sent a survey out to the plans and expects to have updated information available by early November.

Independent Consumer Advocacy Network (ICAN)

ICAN helps people in New York's managed care plans who get long-term care services. Help is free, confidential, and independent. Call now to speak to a counselor.

Call (844) 614-8800

TTY Relay Service: 711

ICAN includes 14 agencies and can meet clients at over 50 locations throughout New York state where they can meet with people in-person. Call to schedule an in-person meeting. They can also visit you in your home if you have difficulty traveling.

Key facts to keep in mind:

- ICAN does not accept walk-ins. You have to call ICAN to schedule an appointment.
- Some of the locations are permanently staffed, and some are just locations where staff can meet with clients so there is nobody from ICAN there most of the time.
- ICAN will arrange for a home visit for anyone who needs it, so lack of a proximate site should not be an obstacle.
