Consumers Searching

Consumers Wanted: For an Employment Information Bridge to work it requires traffic to flow in both directions. If you are in a Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program, you will eventually need to find a new Home Care Worker. And up to now you may have relied upon Friends, Family, an Agency or you may have chosen to put your own advertisement on the Internet (See the list of Internet resources on the PCA Employment Agency page of this newsletter). Therefore, to help you find the PCA Candidate of your choice, I urge you, to do everything you ordinarily do, to consider an Internet resource and to try www.ConsumerDirectedServices.com. Finally, if you try Consumer Directed Services, please spread the word. Tell your friends and associates about this FREE service.

To whom it may concern,

Last August I relocated to the northeast from Florida. I moved to Margaretville New York near my family when I secured a position with a community organization in the area. Unfortunately, shortly after I moved funding for my position was cut. This area is rural and lacks office type employment. As a result, I took a job with the largest local employer – Fresh Town Supermarket and have been with them since August 2013.

I moved to

New York City as of August 1st 2014 for better employment opportunities.

I am interested in the Position advertised on Indeed.Com. My resume is enclosed for your review. I have related experience and excellent capabilities such as Organization, focus and Detail Oriented and I would appreciate your consideration for this job opening.

I am available for a personal interview at your convenience. I may be reached at 813-802-4518.

Sincerely,

Janine Santos

Whom It May Concern:

I seek the position of Home Health Care Giver. With my certificate in Home Health-Care from New York State Department of Health, (certificate number 570089), coupled with my Qualifying Food Handler's Permit from the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (License number: 1473172), along with my other educational endeavors and my years of experience in the field, I believe I am qualified for the job.

I possess extensive experience in providing kind, gentle and efficient services. I recently completed a stint caring for a dialysis patient, transferring him to and from the hospital.

I supervised his meal plans, bathed him, administered his medicine, kept him and his surroundings clean and overall ensured his comfort and well-being.

I am capable of providing wound care; urinary drainage; blood pressure monitor; ostomy care; temperature monitor and much more. (Resume upon request).

I also prepared his meals, where I utilized my experience in the food business to ensure that he received healthful and wholesome meals.

I am accomplished in ensuring that patients receive patient, kind and loving care. I am a trained chef capable of putting out great American-Style food.

I currently care for two elderly and infirm patients who have expressed great satisfaction with my work and whose children, my bosses, are willing to offer their recommendation – upon your request. Because of budgetary constraints, they are forced to consider other options.

They however, have been gracious enough to pay me to continue working until I find alternate employment.

Most importantly, I would thoroughly enjoy this job, since caring for others comes naturally to me. It would therefore be my honor to work with you. If given an opportunity I intend to make an invaluable contribution.

Please contact me at the above locators or call me at 646-547-7994.

Sincerely,
Jacqueline Husbands.

Parents of special needs children to be paid caregivers in NY State

November 29, 2015 8:44 PM

Starting in April of 2016, the Social Services law will be amended in NY State to allow for parents of their adult child to be paid under the Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program (CDPAP) , as long as the parent is not also named as the designated representative. This is a program where the consumer, i.e., the individual with the disability, can hire anyone he or she chooses.

The CDPAP is a statewide Medicaid program that provides an alternative way of receiving home care services, where the consumer has more control over who provides their care and how it is provided. Rather than assigning a home care vendor or agency that controls selection, training, and scheduling of aides, the "consumer" or the family member, friend or guardian directing his/her care performs all these functions usually done by a vendor.

The change was signed into law by Governor Cuomo on November 20, 2015 which amends the Social Services Law §365-f, subd. 3, L. 2015 Ch. 511, enacting Senate bill S05712-A proposed by Senator Simcha Felder. State regulations now prohibit only the spouse or parent from being hired as the CDPAP aide, but allow a son or daughter or any other family member, provided the family member does "...not reside with the consumer or ... who resides with the consumer because the amount of care the consumer requires makes such relative's presence necessary...."

The aide need not be 'certified' as training is done by the consumer and family. However, CDPAP aides may perform skilled care that otherwise only be performed when a person cannot self-administer, such as suctioning tracheotomies, insulin injections, administration of oxygen and medications.

What's all this mean for families? Many parents of developmentally disabled children are stressed to their maximum abilities when they have a child who requires 24/7 care. If there are two parents in the home, they often work opposite hours of one another in order to be sure their disabled child is cared for in their best interest. They do this in place of a group home, as they want their child home with them for as long as possible. After all most are happiest living with their parents. While the parents are very willing to do this for their children many find that by the time their child has reached the age of 21 and they are no longer in a school setting, they are the full-time caregivers for their now adult children. Where there were financial strains prior to the child becoming adult, they now find themselves bankrupt and on assistance programs. At planning meetings, advocates often hear from parents the need to work to support their family, yet they are staying home unpaid in place of a professional caregiver. There just aren't enough caregivers to go around. The solution for several states since 2011 has been to pay the parents; however, the Home and Community Based Medicaid Waiver program in NY has allowed for everyone in the family except the parents to be paid.

Parents will need to call their local Consumer Director Personal Assistance Program agency for their county. A good place to start is the Department of Health who contracts with the fiscal as the aide is not an employee of a home care agency, but is instead an independent contractor, who is paid wages and benefits by a "fiscal intermediary," an entity that contracts with either the county or a managed care plan to provide services authorized by that county or managed care plan. It is the fiscal intermediary that pays the aide wages and benefits.

"This is wonderful news for families all across New York State. There is no one who understands the complex needs and challenges of a child with a disability better than a parent," said Assemblyman Joe Morelle (D-Irondequoit), who co-sponsored the bill.

NY State Responds, Promises to Fund Overtime

By Laura on November 19, 2015

In emergency conversations yesterday between CDPAANYS, ADAPT and the Department of Health, it was made clear that that additional money and resources would be made available to fiscal intermediaries whose costs go over the amount already being provided. This means that fiscal intermediaries will not have to worry about consumers allowing their personal assistants to work overtime.

It is not often that victory is this swift, and CDPAANYS would like to thank all of you who called the Governor and made your thoughts known. We would also like to thank ADAPT for weighing in and taking a call to action right to the Governor yesterday in Rochester.

This action and response proves that advocacy can be effective. If you would like to support more advocacy efforts like this, you can donate here. We hope you will continue to remain vigilant as we make a push for higher reimbursement and higher wages for personal assistants in the coming year.

Independent Consumer Advocacy Network (ICAN)

ICAN helps people in New York's managed care plans who get long-term care services. Help is free, confidential, and independent. Call now to speak to a counselor.

Call (844) 614-8800

TTY Relay Service: 711

ICAN includes 14 agencies and can meet clients at over 50 locations throughout New York state where they can meet with people in-person. Call to schedule an in-person meeting. They can also visit you in your home if you have difficulty traveling.

Key facts to keep in mind:

- ICAN does not accept walk-ins. You have to call ICAN to schedule an appointment.
- Some of the locations are permanently staffed, and some are just locations where staff can meet with clients so there is nobody from ICAN there most of the time.
- ICAN will arrange for a home visit for anyone who needs it, so lack of a proximate site should not be an obstacle.
